Radius Bank Won the Celent Model Bank 2017 Product Innovation Award

BOSTON, MA--(Marketwired - April 04, 2017) - Radius Bank (www.radiusbank.com), a full-service bank headquartered in Boston, Massachusetts, today announced it has won the Celent Model Bank 2017 Product Innovation award. Celent is a global financial services research and advisory firm.

Over the past eight years, Radius Bank has transformed itself from a small, traditional community bank into a leader in virtual banking. "The entire team has done an outstanding job of implementing innovative technologies to improve the customer experience," commented Mike Butler, Radius Bank President & CEO. "This is truly a team win. We are honored to receive this recognition from Celent and humbled to be among this year's winners, to whom we extend our congratulations."

Celent's annual Model Bank Awards recognize the best practices of technology usage in different areas critical to success in banking. Nominations are submitted by financial institutions and undergo a rigorous evaluation process by Celent analysts. Celent judges submissions on three core criteria: demonstrable business benefits of live initiatives; the degree of innovation relative to the industry; and the technology or implementation excellence.

According to Stephen Greer, Analyst at Celent, "Customers are demanding more digital services, and the way to truly deliver a best in class customer experience is to digitalize. Radius Bank moved from a traditional community institution to a virtual bank throughout the course of a little less than a decade, transforming almost all aspects of its core business. We found its commitment to innovation compelling, and an example to other institutions."
